Application for Graduate Study Abroad

Krieger School of Arts and Sciences Students: The category of Graduate Study Abroad (GSA) presumes a continuation of the graduate student’s full-time resident status during the period of overseas or off-campus study. The GSA status is usually limited to those students in the Humanities Center and the departments of Anthropology and German & Romance Languages and Literatures, who are required as a part of their regular degree program to complete a semester or more of full-time study at a foreign university. A KSAS graduate student on Graduate Study Abroad is charged 10% of the full-time tuition rate for each semester abroad. The KSAS Dean’s Office will be charged the balance.

Whiting School of Engineering Students: Graduate Study Abroad status applies to degree-seeking WSE master’s and doctoral students engaged in graduate education at a different institution (coursework and/or research) with departmental/advisor approval. These students will be required to pay 10% of the full-time tuition rate for each semester abroad. As this is a unique subcategory of the nonresident status, health insurance benefits are not guaranteed (although students may opt to pay on their own for the student health insurance) and semesters away do not count towards the residency requirement. Graduate Study Abroad students should discuss this with their department/advisor.

Any student traveling abroad should first register with the Johns Hopkins Travel Registry.
